They went under the bedroom door. They went around the stool.

The ants kept marching.

March... march... march!

At last, they reached tiny pieces of murukku under the cot.

"So, there is your food!" laughed Alex.

Amma came with a broom.

"I'll clean this up" she said.

"Wait, Amma!" said Alex.

"Look at them. They came all this way for the murukku."

